Are all the schools the same?

A lot of people
us all the example in France, the children don't have religious education. Also they don't have school buses because they live near the schools.

French children do not finish at 3pm but at 5pm and in France there is no pledge of allegiance.

There are simply different types of schools (highschool, middle school, university, primary school).

Now, you know all the schools are not the same.
